It's a great experience to live alone in an unfamiliar environment where you have to adapt to the different culture. The challenge to become self confident and independent is incredible and the fact that you can say that you've had the time of your life at the end makes everything perfect.

The capital city of British Columbia is Victoria. Vancouver, with a population of 2.4 million, is British Columbia's largest city and is located on the mainland. It is just a short 15-minute flight or approximately two and a half hours from Saanich Schools by car/bus and ferry.

SISP Homestay Coordinators provide on-going student support and monitoring with school based office hours (two days per week) and regular communication with host families. Every school has an assigned Homestay Coordinator, who is available via email and phone during school hours. During the evenings, weekends and holidays, students and host families can reach out to SISP Management, including a Homestay Manager by calling the SISP emergency phone. Student safety and support in Saanich is paramount.

You must make the effort to meet new friends. I have several Canadian friends and they really help me. My teacher also showed me what there is to do here and at home I joined in the family things. Also, you can go out and walk in the streets here without being afraid.

More to Explore

Saanich Schools offer optional “Elective” classes in Arts, Business, Economics, Technology, Trades, Languages, and more. Expand your education and find your passion through these exciting classes.

Elective classes are a significant draw and new concept for many international students. The British Columbia Education system encourages students to pursue elective classes during middle and high school as a compliment to traditional academic classes. On your path to graduation you will need to complete fine art and applied skill electives, also known as “exploratory” classes in lower grades. Elective classes offer many benefits that help support international students development as well-rounded learners and individuals. Saanich Schools International Student Program support staff at Claremont, Parkland and Stelly's help you select and build your school schedule with a balanced compliment of elective and academic classes.

If studying for a semester, or one school year, elective classes balance your school day with more rigorous academic courses. Review the chart for a specific elective subject that interests you and consider the corresponding school when applying to the Saanich International Student Program.

There are many clubs for international students to join in Saanich Schools. Clubs are offered before and after school, and during lunchtime. Clubs like the model United Nations (UN), Leadership, Math, Chess, and even Table Tennis are great ways for students to meet Canadian friends and improve spoken English. Greater Victoria and Saanich also have numerous community based clubs and activities you can join. School staff, homestay families and international program staff can help you become involved in the school and the community while studying in Saanich.
